2 ERO's Judgements

Akarangi | Quality Evaluations evaluate the extent to which early childhood services have the learning and organisational conditions to support equitable and excellent outcomes for all learners. Te Ara Poutama Indicators of quality for early childhood education: what matters most and Early Childhood Education \(ECE\) Improvement Framework \(teacher led services\) are the basis for making judgements about the quality of the service in achieving equity and excellence for all learners. Evaluations for improvement | Ngā Aronga Whai Hua is integrated across all of the above domains.

3 About the Service

City Impact Church Care and Education is one of a group of four early learning services owned by a charitable trust. A national manager oversees the services, while a centre manager, supported by the teaching team, is responsible for day-to-day operations. The group's philosophy gives emphasis to the special Christian character and community values of 'Believe, Belong, Become and Build'. The group's priorities are 'Know who we are in God, Supporting Transitions, Social and Emotional Competence and Family and Community Engagement'. An additional learning priority for this service is 'School Readiness'.

4 Progress since the previous ERO report

ERO's 2021 Akarangi | Quality evaluation identified three improvement actions to:

- increase opportunities for children to experience a curriculum that promotes sustained child-initiated learning
- build partnerships with whānau that respond to parent aspirations, including growing teachers' knowledge and understanding of culturally responsive teaching practices
- evaluate how well progress and improvement actions have resulted in positive outcomes for children.

Good progress has been made across all three improvement actions. Leaders and teachers have undertaken a focused internal evaluation of the bicultural curriculum, strengthened their knowledge and understanding of culturally responsive teaching practices and supporting sustained child-initiated learning. The service has embedded processes that has improved communication and partnerships with whānau. Ongoing review and internal evaluation are used to improve teaching practice and positively impact learner outcomes.

5 Learning Conditions

The learner and their learning | He Whāriki Motuhake

Children experience a curriculum clearly aligned with Te Whāriki, the early childhood curriculum, and actively promotes the service's Christian character, philosophy, vision and learning priorities.

- Learning environments are well resourced and thoughtfully planned, providing many opportunities for oral language and early literacy learning. Children with additional learning needs are well supported.
- Teachers collaborate with parents and use intentional resourcing to promote children's social and emotional competence and developing communication skills. A range of intentional teaching strategies is used to extend children's learning, including questioning, modelling, prompting, and opportunities for sustained conversations.
- Te reo Māori is used in some interactions, group times and routines. However, children's individual languages and cultures are not yet consistently reflected in individual learning documentation.
- Community connections are actively fostered, including regular visits to the City Impact Church school. These connections support children's smooth transitions and align with the service's focus on school readiness.

Collaborative professional learning and development builds knowledge and capability | Whakangungu Ngaio

Organisational conditions support leaders and teachers to access service-wide professional learning and development that is aligned to service priorities.

- Leaders and teachers actively reflect and collaborate to discuss children's learning and development. They share their professional learning across the group of services to build teacher capability and consistency of teaching practices.
- Professional growth processes purposefully guide and improve teaching practices and are clearly aligned with the service priorities. Leaders and teachers are improvement focussed, regularly considering what is working, what is not, and for whom.
- Leaders and teachers are currently evaluating the effectiveness of assessment, planning and evaluation processes to improve consistency of practice across the group of services. Assessment information does not yet demonstrate clear links to Te Whāriki learning outcomes, children's learning progress over time, or the effectiveness of intentional teaching strategies in supporting learning.

6 Organisational conditions

Leadership fosters collaboration and improvement | Kaihautū

High levels of relational trust enable effective collaboration to promote improved outcomes for children and whānau.

- Leaders have a strong understanding of the service's Christian philosophy and actively apply it in practice. They role model and promote clear expectations for the teaching teams.
- Highly experienced leaders work closely together to mentor centre managers across the group. Regular opportunities are provided for leaders to meet, engage in service-wide professional learning, and share knowledge that builds teacher capability and consistency across the group.
- A range of tools and methods is used to gather relevant information for evaluation and improvement purposes. Leaders collect meaningful data to identify priorities and actions for improvement and engage in deliberate, evidence-informed decision making.

Stewardship through effective governance and management | Te Whakaruruahu

Governance fosters an environment that reflects the service's Christian values and prioritises children's learning and wellbeing.

- Governance actively promotes the services' Christian philosophy and ensures that parent and whānau aspirations meaningfully influence the organisation's vision, goals, and plans for children's learning. Resourcing is strategically aligned with service's priorities.
- Governance ensures new managers are confident and competent in their roles. Staff are strategically appointed for their skills and expertise to add value across the services and build teacher capability.
- A collaborative systematic approach to internal evaluation is well established across the group and is used to inform change and ongoing improvement in practice.

7 Management Assurance on Legal Requirements

Before the review, the staff and management of City Impact Church Care and Education completed an ERO Assurance Statement and Self-Audit Checklist. In these documents they attested that they have taken all reasonable steps to meet their legal obligations related to:

- curriculum
- premises and facilities
- health and safety practices
- governance, management and administration.

During the review, ERO looked at the service's system for managing the following areas that have a potentially high impact on children's health and safety:

- emotional safety (including positive guidance and child protection)
- physical safety (including supervision; sleep procedures; accidents; medication; excursion policies and procedures)
- suitable staffing (safety checking of staff, ratios)
- relevant evacuation procedures and practices.

All early childhood services are required to promote children's health and safety and to regularly review their compliance with legal requirements.

8 Where to next for improvement?

City Impact Church Care and Education will include the following actions in its quality improvement planning:

- Refine assessment practices so documentation more clearly shows children's learning progress over time in relation to Te Whāriki learning outcomes and the service's priorities for learning, including evaluation of the effectiveness of intentional teaching strategies and how teachers respond to children's languages and cultures.

Activities undertaken by the evaluation team

- Pre-visit contact with the service provider/manager.
- Reading documentation and records of children's learning and development.
- Scanning the learning environment and resources.
- Observations of interactions and teaching practice while onsite.
- Meetings and / or conversations with leaders and teachers.
- Sampling of information related to compliance.
